

THE VIEW FROM GREECE

Close to one third of the Greek-owned fleet's trading activities are focused on Asia. But the fleet is very well dispersed around the globe.

The Far East is a magnet for dry bulk capacity and has also become a key destination for crude tanker voyages. The importance of South America is underlined as it features among the top five sub-regions for Greek vessels in three different shipping sectors.

Our infographic highlights Greek shipping's response to growing demand from India and China.
